In-School Project Funway is being developed by educators in Eagle County as a middle and high school "creativity" curriculum. Students learn design, planning, construction, and display with the goal of being accepted to model their creations in front of 1,500 attendees at Project Funway, and to win in their age category.

The innovative and exciting In-School Project Funway happens at Vail Ski & Snowboard Academy, Red Canyon High School, Homestake Peak School, Berry Creek Middle School, Eagle Valley Middle School, and Gypsum Creek Middle School.
